About Aspe

The Mirador de Alcana is not just a natural enclave. It is 3km from town and is a tribute to history and tradition, being located in Aspe, a town rooted in the Valley of the Grapes. Here, every nook and cranny tells a story and every bite is a journey back in time. From the comforting stew to the delicious rabbit rice, each dish is a warm hug that connects you to the roots of local gastronomy. And let's not forget the torrijas and bagged grapes of the middle Vinalopó, delights that awaken the senses and celebrate the richness of the land.

Aspe is a town and municipality in the province of Alicante, Spain. The town is located in the valley of the river Vinalopó, . It is a charming town, in a rural area surrounded by mountains, vines, olives and almonds but it is also just a few minutes' drive from the bustling cities of Elche (12 km) and Alicante (25 km). Alicante airport and Costa Blanca's beaches are just 22 km away.

The economy of Aspe is based on textile and footwear industries, as well as farming. Aspe is also famous for growing a special kind of grape, which is traditionally eaten at the stroke of midnight, every New Year's Eve, all across Spain.

Places to visit include the historical centre (casco antiguo), Basilica of Nuestra Señora del Socorro (founded in 1602), Town Hall (17th century), Castillo del Río, a walled settlement located 4 km outside the town and the Municipal Historical Museum.
